The Institute for Advanced Studies (IAS) has four main missions:

- To leverage bold and interdisciplinary research at the very forefront of science.
- To represent the University of Luxembourg's principles of excellence, interdisciplinarity and internationality.
- To build bridges between the University's community, international visitors and Luxembourg society.
- To contribute to the attraction and retention of international talent.

If you have any question relative to IAS and its funding instruments, you can send an email to:
